Telegrams
HAVAS

Rome, May 31st—Last night a strong question was put to the Government in the Chamber of Deputies with reference to a breach of the law of public meetings. After a splendid speech by the Premier, Signor Crispi, which was frequently interrupted by bursts of warm applause, the Chamber, by 329 votes to 61, approved the conduct of the Government, terminating the session by a solemn vote of confidence in the Cabinet.

Oporto, June 1—Telegrams from Povoa de Varzin announce that there has been a serious conflict there between the coastguard and some smuggling fishermen; 8 killed and many more or less seriously wounded form the bill of casualties resulting from the affray.

GALVESTON.

London, June 1st—The Swiss Federal Council has passed a resolution to the effect that extradition ought only to be granted in criminal cases and not for political, military or fiscal offences.

Berlin, June 1st—The subscription for a memorial to Bismarck is progressing and now reaches 195,000 marks.

Bismarck's speech to the delegates of the polytechnic school shows no evidence of rancour.

London, June 1—The proposition to submit the Delagoa Bay question to arbitration will be a bitter pill for the Conservatives.

London, June 2—A letter from the Czar to the Queen of Denmark has just been published in which he promises to make a full investigation into the Siberian atrocities an to punish any excess on the part of the officials with the utmost severity.

Sofia, June 2—A part of this city has been destroyed by a hurricane; 110 soldiers killed and wounded; the total loss of life is not yet known; the damage done to the palace is estimated at £60,000.

WEST COAST TELEGRAMS

Valparaiso, June 2nd—Yesterday the opening of Congress took place in the midst of the greatest possible order. The message commenced by an assurance that the Republic was at peace with all other countries and that international questions capable of forming the subject of disagreements were being satisfactorily solved. On the 8th of January, 1890, a convention was arranged between the Chilian and Peruvian Governments, by virtue of which a chance will be afforded to this Republic of obtaining a complete cancellation of its exterior debt, represented by the 1869, 1870 and 1872 loans, amounting to the sum of £32,960,706, besides interest since 1876. With reference to the Washington Congress, it says, "We accepted the invitation of the United States more out of deference to a friendly government than with any hope of obtaining immediate or actua results tending to the welfare of the Two Americas. In conformity with declarations previously made, instructions were given to our special envoy to do all in his power to assist in the arrangement of all economic or commercial questions which might prove of interest to the nations represented at the Congress. We thought that all political questions should be outside the field of discussion, and that the points to which our special attention should be directed were the adoption of bi-metallism, communication between North and South America by means of steamships, telegraphs and railways, uniformity of customs, tariff and quarantine regulations. The currency question, the solution of which would have conferred inestimable benefits on this country, was not settled in the Washington Congress. The means of procuring commercial communication between the Two Americas were enumerated and referred for full and complete reports which will take some time to mature, on account of the extent of the ground to be covered and because of the diversity of interests and the proportionate cost of the provisional work. We can, nevertheless, anticipate that Chili will, for her own part and in her own territory, execute the necessary works for this vast project of continental communication. International arbitration in its most comprehensive and arbitrary form was proposed by some of the delegates. We dissented from this proposition because we believed it would not work efficaciously and because Chili has no need of any other than general International Law. Nations like ours, which work and which faithfully observe their international obligations and promises only have to resort to arbitration in special cases."

The Revenue of the year was 54803464 dollars and the expenses $59387209. The economic situation was strained by the want of a circulating medium and by limitations originating in financial operations.

On the War and Marine department, the message says "Although funds are wanting for the completion of our land defences and for an increase in our fleet adequate for the protection of our coast and our wealth, we must still be prepared to defend them. One of the best guarantees for the maintenance of peace consists in strength."

After enumerating a number of internal reforms, chiefly electoral and municipal, which will be proposed, the message concludes by stating that the recent change of Cabinet has not in any way influenced the political situation.

WHOLESOME RETRENCHMENT.

We can neither disguise the exuberant joy nor restrain the enthusiastic applause in which we are led to indulge on reading the bill at present before Congress for the judicious cutting-down of the pension list. Congress deserves hearty praise for the first incipient symptom of retrenchment, after so many years of wild legislation in the matter of expenditure, and at a moment when a disheartened people had been slowly, relunctantly even, forced to the conviction that the extravagant tendencies of our representatives and legislators were beyond control and consequently beyond remedy. But all is not yet lost, and we hail with delight the first faltering step of our Congressmen towards wholesome retrenchment. The pension list of a Government is a measure of the generosity of a nation, the thermometer of the warmer and nobler feelings of the Argentine character, but it was quite evident that the instrument within the last few years had gone completely out of order. At this moment the Nation pays 2,125,026 dollars for the support of an army of decrepit and once useful, perhaps, citizens and widows and children Were the pensioners all widows, we should say nothing. There is, in the widow, something that appeals to our nobler feelings, and we should even applaud the heart-felt sympathies and extraordinary generosity which their lonely condition has awakened in the manly hearts of our legislators. But all our pensioners are not widows: there are black sheep amongst them, there are some able-bodied recipients who feed on Argentine patriotism, which lies at the bottom of a good deal of extravagance, and wilfully shirk honest work by which they could earn a livelihood, thus lightening the burthen of our national engagements. There are even some, who, in the quiet and undisputed enjoyment of a fat pension, have actually abandoned this generous soil. It may be, of course, that these recipients care not to contemplate the scenes in which they have lost a limb, weakened their sight, or undermined their constitutfon. Like the venerable Æneas, they do not seek to "renovare dolorem," and we will admit that nothing is so conducive to the restoration of health as a snug residence in the outskirts of superb Genoa or beautiful Naples, or a season ticket for La Scala. But we nevertheless think that such pleasing remedies, which cost us so much, may be dispensed with, and Congress is of the same opinion. The pruning knife must be applied here with vigor. We are now in the midst of a tremendous crisis and adversity has torn away the veil which a passing prosperity had placed before our eyes. We see the effects of popular indifference in the management of the banks of the interior, in the length of the pension-list, in the slow progress of our Custom-House returns, in the very crisis which now sweeps over us, purifying an atmosphere full of unhealthy vapors.

It would be neither bright nor charitable to abolish the pension-list, for no pen can describe the terrible and unmerited misery from which the timely generosity of the nation saves many of her broken down and once useful sons. But it is precisely where the notler feelings of the people are allowed to find expression that the most subtle abuses spring up. We care not to follow the windings of this river of legislative charity, nor explore its banks, but we may rest assured that abuse s lie there, unperceived by the collective wisdom of our representatives. It is fortunate that one voice at least has been raised to direct the attention of the legislature to an elastic item of expenditure, which a false charity has shielded from scrutiny but, which, like every thing else, must be reduced to the proportions retrenchment suggests. But much as we applaud the wisdom of cutting down the pension-list, we not are entirely carried away by our enthusiasm at the salutary reaction in our congressmen. We cannot say whether this wholesome tendency towards retrenchment is due to the influence of the honorable member for that economising province, Rioja, or to the natural course of things since the crisis first began to make itself felt. The change is certainly remarkable, for last year our honorable representatives thought nothing of voting away 48 millions of extraordinary expenditure, 24 millions of which were totally unprovided for, and to-day the same gentlemen, impressed with the necessity of economy, are beginning with the most delicate of all items—the pension-list. The debate on the subject will test the strength of the good resolutions of the Chamber, since, nothing being so fruitful in sentimental suggestions, though often so barren in practical results, as charity, an opportunity is offered for some eloquent gentleman to father the cause of the lonely widow or the disabled patriot and, in a magniloquent torrent of philosophic utterances, carry away his hearers, cause the list to be respected and with it the abuses which thrive on it.

LONDON LETTER
FINANCIAL ITEMS.

(From our Special Correspondent.)

April 19th.

The Statist says:—The disrepute into which the Argentine Government has fallen intensifies as time passes. This week the premium on gold has been as high as 212 per cent.....It is true that the purchase of the Western Railway of Buenos Ayres has since caused a sharp fall in the premium to about 160 per cent, but that is probably only a temporary movement. If so—if, that is, the discredit goes from bad to worse—it is hard to see how a revolution can be avoided. The public at home and abroad have utterly lost confidence in the Government. It has so often and so shamefully broken its promises that nobody believes either in its will or its power to take the measures which are now necessary. An utterly discredited Government cannot stand very long, and least of all can it do so if the currency of the country is refused by the public and people find themselves in danger of universal bankruptcy. It does not follow that armed violence must necessarily take place. The great financial houses of Europe are as much interested as any one can be in preventing an utter crash. By this time even they must have become convinced that they cannot trust the Government, and apparently they are putting pressure upon the President to induce him to resign."

Your contemporary then goes on to consider the Provincial and Municipal liabilities of the Republic and the interest falling due, the amount of which in a detailed list totals up to £18,145,342. The Statist is averse to the idea of the National Government converting the Cedulas into a 4 per cent Gold Government Stock, or toits saddling itself in any way with the liabilities of the farmers, the Mortgage Bank and the Hypothecary Bank, as well as those of the provinces and municipalities. Such an undertaking would be to run the risk of wrecking the whole country.

In a separate article on the "Argentine Railway Sale," in which the Statist takes your figures and facts in relation to the affairs of the Western Railway, it says: "It would be a valuable contribution at the present moment to have some reliable official statistics as to the actual position of Buenos Ayres, and, for the matter of that, of other Argentine provinces as well."

The Economist has an article headed "Argentine Credit and the Monetary Crisis." The gist of the article is rather favourable. It of course has to refer, like the Statist, to the fact that Argentine securities at this moment maintain their value in the London Market and attributes it to the intended sale of the Western Railway to a London syndicate and the consequent fall in the gold premium. But the Economist seems to have learned better than the Statist that "a line should be drawn between the direct Government commitments and guarantee of the provinces and of those institutions which may or may not be sustained or guaranteed by those provincial governments. That arrangements will have to be made between the holders of Cedulas and provincial bondholders and their respective guarantors is quite possible, and that heavy losses will be the result of the recent enormous speculation in land cannot be doubted . . . But this need not jeopardise materially the National credit—that is the market value of the external debt of the Argentine Confederation. Of course, the revenue of the Republic for the time being will feel the effect of the general collapse and the troubles in which the provinces may be involved, but it is known that there is a large sum in hand in this country sufficient indeed to provide for the service of the external debt during the current year, and this should give the National Government ample time to mature arrangements, backed up, as it doubtless ought to be, by the important firms which of recent years have so inconsiderately stimulated the absorption of Argentine securities. It is said that the new Finance Minister is a capable man, and that his arrangements in the present crisis are likely to work with a beneficial effect . . . .

The article, after reproducing the old comments on all the financial sins and reckless guarantees and free banks and other absurdities you have been guilty of, winds up in thiswise; "Still, the Argentine Confederation is naturally rich, its soil is prolific and well watered, and the population has increased marvellously of late. The community have a good deal to show for their money, and if in the case of the Provincial Governments or in regard to the Cedulas which are not guaranteed by the State, a composition of some kind should become necessary, still the present heavy depreciation has gone a great way towards enabling the public to gauge the extent of the sacrifice required; and if Señor Uriburu justifies the favourable comments which have been made so far in respect to his financial regulations, we do not anticipate having to class the National Government amongst the list of defaulting States."

The Financial News, on the newministry being announced, published a short history of Señor Uriburu's antecedents, representing him as a Chileno, and a new man &c. Mr. Sanford has since written to that paper to correct the account given. In the Economist's article just quoted the new Minister's name appears persistently as Uriburu.

The name "Cedulas" alas! has become so discredited that Messrs. Baring have asked the Uruguay Government to change their Cedulas into "Mortgage Bonds."

The Financial News publishes a very long letter from someone singing himself "Warheit," going back to the days of Avellaneda and Riestra and his "less scrupulous" successor V. de la Plaza, to show us how Argentine Credit has been exploited here by the Barings and the Murrietas &c. and that it is "to the action of the financial houses which have encouraged the Argentines in their "Rake's Progress" that the present state of affairs is principally due."

The Portuguese have failed to raise a loan in Paris and will probably have to come with their tails between their legs to London.

RACING.

Sunday's racing in Belgrano provided some of the best, closest and most interesting sport of the year; indeed, a finer finish than that afforded in the Premio Combate it would be impossible to imagine.

Proceedings commenced with the Maiden race, in which a wretched start effectually disposed of the pretentions of the highly-fancied Li methorpe, and enabled the moderate Bien Venida to score in a slowly-run race. A good field contested the 2 yr. old race and the winner, La Plata, is probably the smartest of her age yet seen in public It was rather a curious coincidence that she is own sister to Bien Venida.

The Premio Junio then came on for consideration, introducing to us a couple of animals that have made some slight mark in English Turf History; of these, Rada was last throughout, except Sarah Bernhardt, who was evidently started for a race of this description out of a spirit of fun; the other, Paysandu, who was formerly known as Indian Prince, performed in very different fashion. The result of the race, however, was a great surprise, as, after Paysandu had appeared to have won easily by a neck, it was found that the judges had given the verdict as a dead heat between him and Categoria. Comment on this decision was general.

Neapolis easily accounted for the 7 furlong handicap, displaying far better form than when, the week before, he so nearly succumbed to Ambush.

The public were then called upon to discuss the 2,500 metre race, and a more successful result could hardly have been expected. The finish was a great compliment to the handicappers, who, with the exception of the excessive impost allotted to Sila and which she has done nothing whatever to merit, had produced a work of art. Asteroide ran a marvellous race, and, although the palm of victory ultimately rested with Puygaveau the virtual honors were earned by the son of Retreat. The extreme outsider, Miss Mary, although not in her last year's form, nearly effected an enormous turn-up, and, perhaps, if she had not come so early, might have actually succeeded in so doing. For over half a mile she contested every inch of ground with Asteroide, and it was probably as a result of this long and arduous struggle that Puygaveau was enabled to beat the pair of them on the post. So ended a fine day's sport, worthy of Ascot or Epsom, if good fields, high-class horses, and close finishes be any criterion.

Railway Items.

The Pacific Railway inspector, in his report to the Board of Public Works, states that the service of trains on that line last month was irregular. This was due to the breaking-down of the locomotives and to delays in the combination of the Argentine Great Western. In regard to the road-bed, its condition is by no means good, and between kils. 556 and 599, the line is completely out of level. At kils. 603, 613 and 614, the earthworks have shrunk.

The Buenos Aires and Ensenada Line will henceforward put on more first-class carriages, owing to the increase in the passenger traffic.

The Board of Public Works have sent a rather stiff note to the Central Northern Railway Company, calling attention to the defective service and the shaky condition of the road-bed in many parts, particularly on the branch from Recreo to Chumbicha. The rolling-stock, moreover, appears to be in need of repairs. Several complaints have been received about the wretched condition of the stations on the extensions.

Mr. Pastor Tapia, ex chairman of the Provincial Railway Board, has issued, in reply to the charges against him, a pamphlet in which he describes several land transactions The object of dwelling on these transactions, which a nounted to over 15 million dollars, is to show how honorable his conduct was. He even mentions the names of many well known gentlemen who can testify to his honesty. The pamphlet is calculated to vindicate his name. However, the question is still before the courts, and as we fear our opinoision might influence the judge—a scruple the Deputies entertained in regard to their own opinion the other day—we await in silence the decision of the court.

Diogenes, in the South American Journal of April 26th, says:—

"The traffic returns of most of the Argentine railways show decreases in sterling in consequence of the high gold premium. The latter has also had the effect of decreasing the splendid traffics of the Buenos Aires and Rosario Railway Company, without, however, converting the increases last year into decreases. The traffic for the week ending April 19th amounted to $154,420 against $79,330 last year, or in sterling £11,133 against £9698 in 1889, thus still showing an increase of £1435. This result is attained with the average of the gold premium at 176. Had that average been 142, as cabled for this week, the increase would have been £1600 more, as the company will not reduce their rates again until the gold premium falls below 120. By the way, I learn with regret that Mr. Clarke, the highly respected chief engineer and general manager of the company in Argentina, is about to retire from the management, but will remain in Buenos Aires as the company's chief engineer until the completion of all the company's extension works, which are, as my readers well know, very considerable. Mr. George Hunt, whose connection with the Great Northern Railway for the last twenty-five years is well known, is to succeed Mr. Clarke as general manager, and I congratulate the Rosario Company upon having secured so able and efficient a successor. Mr. Hunt will, I hear, sail in about four weeks.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

The week opened yesterday rather slowly. The gold premium shook its gory locks and rose five points, as a mild protest against the new Bolsa rules, which are anathemised by everybody on 'Change, and are certain to go to the wall, like all previous attempts of the kind to restrain speculation.

The illuminated and illustrated passenger list of the Duca di Galliera sent round by the Veloce Company yesterday is the most gorgeous thing of the kind we have ever seen. On one cover is seen the great steamer sailing from Buenos Aires; on the other is Montevideo. The Duca is full of passengers, first, second and third. General Mitre and Baron Rotenham head the list.

We call the attention of the members of the English Literary Society to the fact that Mr. Edmund Reydams will to-morrow resume his interesting Lecture on Schilles as a dramatist.

A sad affair took place yesterday afternoon on the esplanade of the Government House, where a respectable-looking man blew his brains out about 4 o'clock, causing some excitement for a few minutes. A card with the name of Robisdeik was found on him.

The following are the B. Ayres Football team told off to play Montevideo at Hurlingham on Thursday:—P A Grassick, goal; J H Crowe and Waters, backs; W McAdam, S Archer, and A Crowe, ½ backs. Forwards. B Guy, R Disbrowe, H B Anderson, E O Wash, R Gifford.

The Gargano Company at the San Martin are gradually conquering the Buenos Ayres public. On Saturday they produced "Ercole ed Euristeo," written by the Director of the Company specially with a view to display their capabilities. It is certainly the finest "spectacle" ever given in this country, the dresses and scenery being beyond reproach; the acting, too, is excellent, the weak point, if there be any, being the vocalism, which is certainly not on a par with the acting or "mise-en-scene." On Sunday the favourite "Boccaccio" was given to a crowded house, and elicited thunders of applause; the primadonna, Sta. Gattini who has a pure, round, and flexible voice which has evidently been highly cultivated, was especially favoured whilst the trio in the first act, F Gargano's interpolated buffo song and the love duet in the third act were respectively twice redemanded. Englishmen, however, will, we think, somewhat object to the lengthy spells of dialogue indulged in by the comic men, and feel inclined to paraphrase old Ducrow's famous expression, saying, "Blow the talk—get to the music."

Coquelin's company is pursuing the even tenour of its ways and for the last two evenings has given repetitions of works already played this season. In "Le Fiacre 117" La Lender renewed her opening success, and there can be little doubt that in this diverting farcical comedy she is seen at her best. On Sunday, "L'Ami Fritz" was repeated, and after we had been regaled with the finest of delicate French art, we had a delicious dessert composed of songs and a monologue by the inimitable Judic; in "Josephine, which was specially "built" for her, she is simply incomparable, breathing out the wit with which the little "chef d'oeuvre" abounds with an ideal assumption of innocence, all the more charming because it is not exactly food for babes.

Dont forget the auction of furniture at the residence of the late Mr. Sam Abbott. It comes off to day.

The latest fashionable news is that "tertulias" will be very numerous this year, as opera and theatre going generally has been knocked on its silly head by the crisis. Quite an unusual number of marriages are also expected to come off. This is curious, as bad times generally affect the matrimonial market in the same way as all other markets—adversely.

The football match at Hurlingham yesterday resulted in a win for Buenos Aires by 3 goals and 1 try to nil. To-morrow we hope to give full particulars about the Rosario match to be played at Palermo on the 5th.

We have inspected some excellent safety key chains now on sale at "The English" store 596 Cangallo; they are attachable to the brace button and are ornamental in design. We noticed a large assortment here of fine goods, all of English manufacture.

Here's something curious about that highly objectionable weakness, perjury:—"A novel point in connection with perjury is that the false swearing must be as to some point "material" to the facts in issue. Thus, if a witness giving evidence on a particular and material point, introduces some extraneous subject, i. e., gives an account of a journey he had made, and swears falsely as to some of the incidents thereof, he cannot be convicted of perjury."

The United States corvette Richmond sailed for Rio on Saturday to bestow some gunpowder on the new Brazilian flag at Rio. It is a delightful time of year to be ordered to Rio. Lucky Richmonds.

Advices from the Interior report the Free and Easy Banks as making the most desperate efforts to put their houses in order before the Inspection Office sends to enquire after their health. As, however, they "threw the house out of the window" when shinplasters were plentiful, they will find it difficult now to get it back again.

The City Commissioners met on Saturday after a long rest. The first thing they did was to tell the Lord Mayor that they had nothing to do with his going to Europe, and if he wanted leave to go he should ask the National Government for his lordship's festive proposal to throw away thousands on statues for the Plazas, "para retemplar el espiritu publico," so sorely depressed by the crisis. Some tramway business was then transacted, and the C. C's adjourned for dinner after their very laborious sitting.

The performance of Rigoletto at the Opera House on Sunday night was the best "conjunto" by far since the season began. Madame Dalti was a charming Gilda; she conquered her audience from the first, and was encored in the famous "caro nome." Maurel's interpretation of the unfortunate jester was a masterpiece of both singing and acting, and no Rigoletto to equal him has as yet appeared on the Buenos Aires boards. As Duke of Mantua de Lucia was quite up to the mark of his fellow artists and tossed of "la donna e mobile" in such perfect fashion that he was twice encored, and gracefully acceded. The encores on Sunday night were, of course, flattering to the artists, but a great and most unfair tax on them, and it is to be hoped that they will set their faces against too great a development of this way of showing public approval.

The following is the latest news from Cannes about the ex-Emperor Dom Pedro: Poor old Dom Pedro is still desirous of returning to Brazil. He does not seem to care as to what capacity he is called, whether as Emperor, President or private citizen. He is undoubtedly broken down, and he simply wishes to pass the remainder of his life in the country over which he ruled so long. The case of the old gentleman is a pathetic one, but ex-Emperors ought not to be encouraged to locate in new Republics.

Railway making in China has to encounter obstacles unknown in other parts of the earth. The recent great fire there has been interpreted by the Imperial astrologers in the same way as the last eclipse of the sun, viz., as a bad omen, in consequence of admitting the inventions of the "outer barbarians" into the country, so the juvenile Emperor has put a sudden stop to all railway making till the stars work themselves into a more propitious humour.

The long-talked of regatta at Montevideo will come off on Thursday. The Platense Company have kindly lent their fine steamer the Apolo as a Club boat for the occasion.

There were fully 8,000 visitors at the Exhibition on Sunday, and the weather was simply superb, one of those perfect autumn days only to be found in the River Plate and some few other spots on the earth's surface. The chase after the Indian was the great attraction, but was somewhat tame compared to what it would have been if seen in the open camp. The 'Pampa" was captured by means of "bolas.' Yesterday the Show was closed by a general march past of horses, cows, machines ploughs, an Allegorical Car, farmers, employees etc, etc. The Show has been a success in all ways and a credit to our old Rural Society.

We've invested in a new swallow tail to attend Coquelin's Conference for the Press to-morrow evening, in the Politeama, and expect a rich treat.

A New York paper says:—"Millet's "Angelus" is going back to Europe because this Government demands $35,000 duty thereon. Is it strange that there are Americans who doubt the beneficial effects of Protection?

The demonstration to General Mitre on his departure for Europe was a great success. At 2 o'clock the Committee arrived at General Mitre's house, in front of which a large crowd had assembled. Three open carriages were at the door In a few minutes General Mitre, Dr. Ramos Mejia and Colonels Guerrico and Morales came out and entered the first carriage, which started for Plaza San Martin, accompanied by a cheering crowd. On the way the ladies threw flowers and waved their handkerchiefs from the balconies. In Calle Florida the Misses Aguirre and Miss Balcarce came out, and the General received full in his face and breast a shower of flowers from their hands, while he bowed low and paid them a well turned compliment that evidently pleased them. On reaching the Plaza the General and party mounted a platform prepared for the occasion. The Plaza was thronged with people, and all the windows showed groups of ladies and children. Dr. Edward Costa, President of the Committee, made the first and only speech, (and a very eloquent one it was) referring to General Mitre's great services and honourable life, and wishing him farewell. The General made a capital speech in reply. The procession then started for the General's house in Calle San Martin, where a lady in the street made a speech to the hero of the day, who pleaded fatigue on being asked to speak again, and the procession then slowly broke up and dispersed. It is calculated the crowd was 100,00 strong.

Respecting the new building for the English Bank in Montevideo, the Times of that city says:—"The magnificent new building for the English Bank, at the corner of Calles 25 de Mayo and Zabala, is progressing apace. The stucco work of the upper story is nearly finished and much of the scaffolding is cleared away, so that it is possible to form some idea of the appearance that the whole will present when completed. There is no doubt that this building will be an ornament and an honor to the city, and is certainly far superior to any other house of business yet erected. Of the internal arrangements it is not yet possible to speak."

The Montevidean ladies have already taken so kindly to the Bickford Knitting, or Weaving, Machine, that the agent there is now selling it on the monthly payment system in vogue here with the sewing machine. If the crisis does not clear off soon, we shall all have to fall back on stockings and other articles woven in our own homes; and, perhaps, so much the better.

Governor Dulce's dulcet explanation about the "vales" he thought proper to have printed in this city is generously assumed to have "saved his bacon". The fact that none of the fradulent shinplasters have been put in circulation is, however, put a very poor excuse for a Provincial Governor to have even thought of such an illegal expedient to "raise the wind."

We feel pleasure in saluting our valued contemporary the River Plate Times, on its first anniversary as a daily paper. To use its own words, it has never felt "weekly" since it took to appearing daily. We wish it a long continuance of its present robust state of health.

The dinner given in Rosario to Commander Humpage, Captain Musgrave and the ward-room officers of H.M.S. Beagle last week was a very enjoyable affair, and remarkable for the post-prandial eloquence displayed. The Reporter declares that so many, out of forty guests, spoke that it lost count of them.

The Rural Society are in a gay and festive mood and have hit on the happy thought of converting the Exhibition building and grounds into a permanent "Paseo Publico," with sundry attractions to draw visitors on Sundays and holidays. The idea is an excellent one and we hope to see it carried out. Something is required to vary the eternal fashionable fooling round in carriages.

Here are some scraps from that liveliest and newsiest of papers the New York World:—

"Andrew Lang has succeeded Matthew Arnold as the autocratic critic of English literature.

"Alphonse Daudet and Prince Bismarck have smoked more tobacco than any other two men in Europe.

"Rider Haggard, the famous novelist, has been offered a thousand dollars a week for a forty weeks' lecture in this country.

"The Sultan of Morocco has thirty-seven wives. His domestic affairs are more troublesome than his foreign relations."

In Montevideo two very serious questions are agitating the usually placid bosom of British society there. The first is: Why did the Committee of the recent Winter Evening concert omit to provide bouquets for the fair and talented ladies who so greatly distinguished themselves on that occasion? The second is: Why was not God Save the Queen sung or played? We hope these points will be settled without bloodshed.

We had a letter yesterday from our talented friend Professor Freidenthal, the eminent pianist, dated on the banks of the Blue Danube, at Buda Pest. He is arranging a pleasant surprise for the B. Aires public, and writes:—"I permit myself to beg your very best protection for the following "empresa" which I have just founded by means of the help and inducement of several people of the highest class (haute volée) of this city. It is the famous Hungarian National Orchestra of Kiss Janesi, celebrated primas [leader] which I carry over within a short time to South America, starting concerts in B. Ayres. H. H. the Prince of W

The lawsuit brought hit by Messrs. Pereyra and Nevares v. Mr. W. Cranwell has been brought to a close by the decision of the Court of Appeal confirming the verdict of the lower court in favor of the defendant. This case is the last link of the famous Banco Constructor krach of 1888 and was brought by the plaintiffs, a pair of brokers, to compel Mr. Cranwell to receive 1500 Constructors which they sold him for end of July of above year. In the previous month of June the plaintiffs failed, and Mr. Cranwell arranged his July operation with the Camara Sindical, the latter giving a receipt in full which has been upheld by the Courts.

The annual general meeting of the Royal Mail Steam Packet Comhany was held at the Cannon Street Hotel, London, on 30th April, Mr. E. Colvile (chairman) presiding. The Chairman, in moving the adoption of the report and accounts, said there was a considerable change in the figures of the latter, due in a great measure to extra voyages having been made to South American ports. He was glad to say that these voyages had been profitable, [in freights they showed an increase of £17,000, and, looking at the competition which existed, that was a very satisfying feature. Passage money showed an increase of £56,000 as compared with last year, partly due to the extra voyages, and to a still greater improvement in their vessels in the shape of electric lights, refrigerating chambers, and other requirements expected by modern travellers. To earn the increased profits they were bound to submit to a very considerable increase in the expenditure. The first item included coals, freights, and charges, amounting to £196,171, as compared with £139,000 odd. Wages were increased by £5,000 due almost entirely to the extra voyages run, and to a slight increase in wages—a slight increase in wages seemed to be the rule all over the world. Provisions showed an increase of £6,000. On the whole the increased expenditure amounted to £57,000, showing an improvement on the balance of £12,000 as compared with last year. They had been able to make the usual writings off for depreciation, repairs, and insurance, and the result showed a profit on the working of £46,000 as compared with £39,000 last year Their fleet stood now at £12 7s. 6d. per ton, and they might consider it a very good asset in their balance-sheet. As regarded the repair and renewal account they began with an adverse balance of £37,000. They had spent £106,000 during the year and transferred £95,000 from profit to loss and ended the year with an adverse balance of £43 000. The ordinary repairs and renewal of their fleet amounted to no more than £55,000. the general result was that they were able to return to the shareholders £48,750, leaving the 'rest' of about £233,000. The directors were able to recommend the payment of a dividend from profit and loss of £1 per share for the half-year, making with the bonus of £1 15s. a distribution of £2 15s per share.

The following passengers have arrived per steamer Pomona:—

Wolseley Sheep Shearing Machine Company, limited.

This company is prepared to supply the Wolseley Sheep Shearing Machines, with their accessories, in any quantities. They are now coming into general use in Australia, where, during the past season upwards of 7,000,000 of sheep have been shorn by them; and it is confidently expected that over 20,000,000 will be shorn by them in that country this year. The following are some of their proved advantages over the ordinary shears:—

Estimated at per sheep per clip.

(1)	Increase is quantity and value of wool (See testimonials).....	11d.
(2)	Increased value of pelts owing to total absence of cuts	1
(3)	Saving of 1 per cent, usual allowance for deaths resulting from cuts and stabs	2½
(4)	Saving of labor and time, as the work can be performed in half the time usually occupied with the old style of shearing....	1½
	Total per clip per sheep.....	16d.
(5)	Total absence of suffering to the sheep.

These economies add enormously to the income of the Australian wool-growers, and are applicable relatively to sheep-farmers everywhere.

The Wolseley machines may be seen in actual work at the Agricultural Rural Exhibition at Palermo.

For further particulars apply to the agents, Messrs. Agar, Cross & Co., Calle Defensa 121 & 136, Buenos Ayres, where certificates and testimonials can be seen.

Winter GOODS

Messrs. Gebbie & Co are now showing in their drapery establishment a select assortment of Winter Goods too numerous to mention.

In the Gentlemen's Branch, Scotch and English Tweeds, Serges, Corduroys, etc., etc., which is under the charge of two French cutters.

We are sorry to advise our customers that, owing to the uncertain value of the Dollar, we will be obliged henceforward to sell only for cash.
